Councillor under fire for Teneriffe Path objection

A TOWN councillor has been put at the centre of a row over a former public footpath in Lyme Regis, which has been closed since the 1990s, after it was revealed that he objected to it remaining open.

Teneriffe Path – a footpath which leads from Broad Street, alongside the Masonic Hall, to Marine Parade – has been closed to the public with a locked door on the seafront since the 1990s.

The footpath was previously found to be a public right of way following an inquiry, but residents of adjoining cottages on Marine Parade appealed against the decision. Another public inquiry is now set to be held on February 22nd 2017, from 10am at Woodmead Halls

Lyme Regis residents took to social networking website Facebook last week to express their support for the re-opening of the path. But the campaign quickly turned sour after it was pointed out that town councillor Jeff Scowen, who lives at Teneriffe on Marine Parade, held a key to the locked door through which he gains access to his house.

Councillor Scowen was asked why he would not unlock the door for public use of the footpath, to which he replied: "All designated public footpaths should be open. If and when Teneriffe path is deemed to be such at the hearing in February I am in favour of it re opening."

Councillor Scowen received further criticism after local journalist Geoff Baker revealed that he was among the Marine Parade residents to sign an objection to the path being re-opened in 2013, which was published in Dorset County Council documents.

The revelation led to another public spat between Councillor Scowen and fellow town councillor Cheryl Reynolds, who have openly argued with each other on Facebook on several occasions in recent weeks.

Councillor Reynolds commented: "Oh what a tangled web we weave when first we practise to deceive."

Councillor Scowen replied: "True to form there Cheryl, jumping on the anti Jeff bandwagon."

Councillor Reynolds: "Only if the cap fits, Jeff." Councillor Scowen: "Cheryl, you trot out, my friend, the same old meaningless banter. If it's not this old chestnut it's 'why don't you listen?' You are a great person to be with at meetings unless someone disagrees with you and then you throw your toys out of the pram."

Councillor Scowen was questioned several more times over his reasons for not opening the path with his own key.

He reiterated that he would be "in favour of it reopening" if it was deemed to be a public right of way at the inquiry.

Councillor Scowen added: "If and when the path is opened, considerable work would need to be carried out on the steps. It's pretty dangerous at the moment especially in the wet and at night as it is very poorly lit.

"It's a death trap and the county council would be sued if it was opened in this state when the inevitable injuries occur."

He later commented: "I walked into the situation as it is now. It was locked. Knowing that a public inquiry was due I left things as they were. I just want the truth. You can't assume 'guilt', i.e. that it is a defini-

JEFFERY Fraser lives in Beaminster and is an organist who has composed numerous pieces of music for church services.

He was born in Brisbane, Australia, in 1929 and lived there until 1953 before travelling to England to study music further.

Jeffery comes from a musical family. His father had a career in the public service which culminating in being appointed commissioner. He was knighted for his services to the state and, in particular, for the founding of the Queensland Conservatorium of Music. He was a singer and his mother was a pianist.

Jeffery has three daughters; the eldest lives in England and the two younger ones have emigrated to Australia. He also has nine grandchildren and a couple of great grandchildren.

WHAT inspired you be an organist?

Even as a small child, I remember liking music. But the very first time I heard and organ, I was hooked. I remember drawing organ pipes on my slate in the infants school. The sound fascinated me, the way it kept going and not fading away like that made by pianos. My parents knew I was musical and arranged piano lessons for me, and when I started secondary school I had organ lessons. When I was good enough, I was given the privilege of playing in St John's Cathedral for the 9.30am service on the fifth Sunday in each month. And let's be honest - no other instrument gives you such a feeling of power as being able to control with your fingers and toes the tremendous sound of a large organ, all stops out!

WHEN did you start composing music?

I composed music as a young child writing a few short pieces. I don't know what inspired me, tunes and harmonies just came into my mind. One won a prize in an eisteddfod. In my teens I composed a couple of part-songs for children's voices. They were sung but not published. Many organists compose occasional music for their choirs, usually when a special piece is needed urgently. I have composed a few.

TELL us some of the pieces you have com-

In 1960s my first anthem, "Our Blest Redeemer".

was published. I was runner-up in the St Paul's Cathedral Millennium Hymn Competition. My hymn tune "Christopher Wren" was sung in the London Millennium Service in the cathedral to the words which won the second prize, "Hidden Christ, alive forever", by Brian Wren.

Later, I composed music for the organ, and more anthems were published by "Animus Music".

"Blessed are you, Lord" (words by late Revd Joan Fry), was sung in Wells Cathedral. My anthem, "They rest from their Labour" was composed for a local victim of the Twin Towers atrocity in New York, and has since been sung annually in Cartmel Priory (Cumbria) in their Remembrance services. where my publisher is the director of music.

"A West Country Communion Service" for unison voices is sung regularly in Bothenhampton church. "The Harvest Feast", just composed, was sung in three churches: Bothenhampton, Beaminster and United Church in Bridgort.

WHAT is next for the music you have composed?

I have composed a set of Responses for Evensong. These are to be sung by Parnham Voices in Wimborne Minster on Sunday, October 30th.

Finally, I have composed a march for Remembrance Day, entitled "Beaminster Veterans". There are plans for it to be played by the Fairey Band in the parade in Beaminster on Remembrance Sunday. And that our organist, Antony Saunders intends to play it in the church.

WHAT is your biggest achievement?

My biggest achievement? Musically I cannot decide between two: passing the Fellowship of the Royal College of Organists was very difficult indeed, and I am very glad I managed it. Then composing the hymn which was sung in the London Millennium Service in St Paul's Cathedral was a huge thrill. My wife and I were there by invitation.

WHAT do you think is next for you in the future?

At the age of 87, to be around for a bit longer! But I don't think I'll start any long-term projects. I would like to continue composing music. If I am remembered for just one piece (quite a number of composers are) that would be good. I have also started a book - "A Singer's Guide to Reading Music" because those who do not play an instrument find this difficult. I hope to get it finished.

Council to consider grant for theatre as it predicts £10,000 year-end deficit

THE Marine Theatre in Lyme Regis is currently expecting a £10,000 year-end deficit after having to carry out emergency drainage work.

LymeArts Community Trust, which operates the theatre, is expected to request a £3,500 grant from the town council at a meeting of the Tourism, Community & Publicity Committee tomorrow (Wednesday) night to help cover the costs of the drainage work.

The council currently gives the theatre £30,000, with this agreement set to continue until 2020. It also granted the theatre an additional £20,000 last year towards roof repairs.

A condition of the council's grant agreement with the theatre is to hold meetings every March and September to review and evaluate the work of LymeArts Community Trust against the agreement.

At the September meeting, the trust reported that it was expecting a year-end deficit of £5,000 to £6,000 against its budget, but this situation was further compounded by emergency drainage works which cost £3,500.

They said that if everything else remained the same until the end of their financial year, this would result in a year-end deficit of £10,000.

In a report to be considered by councillors tomorrow night, town clerk John Wright said: "To provide some context, the theatre's budget is around £250,000pa and they hold no reserves.

"LymeArts Community Trust believe their financial position could be improved by their autumn programme and the artistic director said she is pursuing grant applications for the theatre. However, these wouldn't address the operating deficit as they are for capital projects."

The town clerk reported that, to address the theatre's "cash flow problem", the trust requested early payment of their third quarter grant from the town council, which was due on October 1st. Mr Wright said he authorised advanced payment of this on September 23rd.

The trust has reported that its accountant would review its end-September 2016 accounts to firm-up the theatre's financial position and year-end forecast. The trust is also in the process of reviewing its business plan, and is now expected to have an additional meeting with the town clerk in November because of its forecast deficit.

The trust said that it had strengthened its governance by recruiting new trustees to fill vacancies, but there were still two remaining vacancies and it was hoped that volunteers with human resources, ICT, legal or artistic backgrounds could be found to fill these positions.

The announcement of the expected deficit comes after a turbulent few months for the theatre, which was put at the centre of a controversial council argument about its rotunda at Cobb Gate, used to advertise events at the Marine. The council eventually agreed to remove the structure and find an alternative location for it, as they felt it was causing an obstruction, despite theatre supporters saying this would have a negative effect on ticket sales.

Those in support of the rotunda said they did not understand why the council would do something that would negatively affect ticket sales after supporting the theatre with a grant, but Councillor Cheryl Reynolds said the theatre was "biting the hand that feeds it".

The theatre also received criticism on social media over the weekend, for hosting a comedy night on the same evening as a similar event at the Pilot Boat Inn, and for booking a professional pantomime later this year, which some argued would affect Lyme Regis Pantomime Society's production in February.

Theatre staff declined to comment on the accusations made on social media.

tive public right of way, before a fair 'trial'."

Lyme resident Matt Puddy, a keen commentator on local affairs, commented: "In other words you no more want it to be re-opened than those who also live there - hence you opposed it. Why not tell us that?"

Councillor Scowen replied: "Read the post. That's not at all what I say."

Councillor Reynolds asked: "Then who was the Jeff Scowen that signed in 2013?"

Councillor Scowen: "Stop stirring it Cheryl...
There is a public hearing on February 22nd to decide if this path is indeed a public right of way once and for all. Apparently, way before the time you describe, it wasn't according to the owners of Madeira Cottage and their barristers. Let's all just wait and see."

Councillor Reynolds: "A simple yes or no will suffice. I will make the question clearer, did you sign the objection in 2013?"

In his response, Councilor Scowen referred to the recent debate over the Marine Theatre rotunda, in which Councillor Reynolds voted to remove the structure despite public objection.

He commented: "You, Cheryl Reynolds, are delighting I can see in attacking me over this and point scoring. You, who has a shameful disregard for the overwhelming public opinion regarding the rotunda debacle. You voted to remove it remember.

"Many of you are being misled over this Teneriffe

Path issue and I suggest you wait to hear both sides of the argument in February at the inquiry. Yes, it's true that in the fairly recent past it was used as a public footpath but apparently there is evidence that before that time it was private.

"Look, I can't help where I live. It was closed when I moved here and I have just continued to leave the access the way I found it. Should it be deemed to be a designated public right of way I will embrace the decision and even throw an opening party. This, though, would have to be when considerable work is carried out on the steps. It's pretty dangerous at the moment especially in the wet and at night as it is very poorly lit.

"Of course I signed the objection, as well you know, my reasons being stated above."

Rotarians donate dictionaries to promote literacy at local schools

■ PROMOTING LITERACY: Rotarian John McCallum after presenting children from St Michael's Primary School with their dictionaries

OVER the coming few weeks the Rotary Club of Lyme Regis is again presenting personalised copies of Usborne Illustrated Dictionaries to Year 6 pupils in schools in the Lyme Regis area.

Schools to benefit from the scheme will include St Michael's in Lyme Regis, Marshwood, Mrs Ethelston's in Uplyme and Charmouth Primary.

"Promoting literacy is a major objective of Rotary," said Lyme Regis Rotarian Nigel Clarke, who managed the project.

"Literacy is so important to successful educational development, even in today's digital world. It is fundamental to effective communication and understanding.

"A strong command of our language, underpinned by a good dictionary, will open up new worlds for our children as they explore books and find the magic worlds within them and will also make them more competitive in today's jobs' market. We are really pleased at this opportunity to help the young of our community.

"Teachers will work with the children throughout the year to ensure familiarity with the dictionaries and that they can use them to full advantage. Parents are encouraged to promote their use at home.

"This brings to around 550 the number of Usborne Illustrated Dictionaries we have presented to local schools over the past few years. These are beautiful books, and we urge children to treasure them, and use them as intended – for life."

If you want to find out more about Rotary visit the website www.lymeregisrotary.org or search "Rotary Club of Lyme Regis" on Facebook.

Lifeboat Week raises £27,000

LIFEBOAT Week this year raised £27,000, the Lyme Regis and Charmouth RNLI Guild have announced this week.

Members of the guild – who organise the week with the volunteers of the lifeboat crew – were given the final figure by treasurer Brian Cursley at their monthly meeting.

Chairman of the guild Irene Roper said: "This is a quite remarkable figure, and a testament to all those volunteers who help us organise seven days of family activities.

"The weather was pretty kind to us and once again visitors and residents of the town were incredibly generous to our life-saving charity. And it is always heartening when people come up to us during the week to thank us for the effort we put in to make the week a success.

The week of family events, held in July, still managed to raise the impressive total despite its usual main attraction, the Red Arrows, appearing in the town the previous week and not in aid of RNLI funds. The RAF Falcons parachute display team also did not appear during Lifeboat Week, as both the Falcons and Arrows had to start charging for their displays

Mrs Roper added: "The final nett sum is particularly tremendous when you consider we were unable to afford the Red Arrows or the Falcons parachute display team."

Members of the guild are already planning next year's week which will run from July 22nd to 29th.

Mrs Ethelston's celebrates planning permission for new school building

THE children, staff and trustees of Mrs Ethelston's Primary Academy in Uplyme were delighted to be granted outline planning consent for a new school building in the village.

The trustees have been working for some time to try to secure a new school building for the children of Uplyme, due to the severe lack of space and facilities at the current site

The trustees purchased land between the village hall and new housing at Master's Close, and are now keen to progress the project further.

A group of trustees, parents, staff and children went to support the planning application when it was discussed at East Devon District Council.

Following the decision, the council granted special permission for the children to speak in support of the application, and said they were very impressed by the children's eloquent speeches.

The pupils were also able to use the opportunity to learn how planning applications were considered and are now planning to recreate this in the classroom.

Executive head Andrea Rice said: "We are delighted to have been granted outline planning permission. Although we already provide a very high standard of education, a new school building would enable us to provide so many more opportunities, particularly with sport and outdoor activities, and the space to do many things that other schools take for granted.

"We would like to thank all of the local people who have given their time to support us with this.

The trustees will now consider ways to obtain funding for the new school, and are keen to see the project finally come to fruition. In the meantime, the site is being used by the children for a variety of outdoor learning experiences such as gardening, growing vegetables and environmental work.

It is hoped that a new outdoor classroom provided by the trustees and the PTFA will be an added bonus

The planning consent includes permission for a new two-storey building, improvements to the existing access from Lyme Road, car parking, an all weather play and sports area with a grassed playing field and associated infrastructure.

Speaking after approval of the plans, East Devon district councillor for the Trinity ward, Ian Thomas, said: "This is a major step forward and a great day for Uplyme, the result of many years work from all involved, with the overwhelming support of local residents, parents staff and pupils, the new school team, trustees and governors and parish council - from the Uplyme Village Plan in 2005 through to the recent consultation exercise in Autumn 2012.

"Congratulations and thanks to all involved!

Standard bearer represents Lyme in Royal British Legion competition

JON Hunt represented Lyme Regis at the annual Dorset Royal British Legion Standard Bearer's Competition, held at the Memorial Hall at the Royal Armoured Corps Centre at Bovington.

Secretary of the Lyme Regis branch of the Royal British Legion, Ian Marshal, said: "This was the first time for a number of years that the Lyme Regis branch has entered the competition and, for his first competition, Jon carried out a first class display of drill and standard handling manoeuvres.

"Sadly, he didn't win but as a first time entrant he was up against a couple of county stalwarts.

"Talking to Jon afterwards, he explained that he just felt he wanted to enter, if only to feel he had earned the right to be our standard bearer.

"Having watched the competition, I felt full of admiration for the tenacity and determination shown by Jon and his fellow entrants as they were subjected to an eagle-eyed examination of their turn out and bearing, as well as the close scrutiny of their drill and standard handling skills; my drill sergeant at the Royal Military Academy didn't appear to be as exacting as these two ex-

Residents object to Hawkchurch 'power station'

RESIDENTS of Hawkchurch, near Lyme Regis, said they have been taken by surprise by a planning application to build a gas-fire energy reserve facility off Stonebarrow Lane, on the outskirts of the village

The application was submitted to East Devon District Council on September 13th and the closing date for the public's comments is today (Wednesday), although objectors are still encouraging residents to submit their thoughts on the plans.

The proposed main building would be 45 metres long, 10 metres high, with 13-metre chimneys and it is thought it will be visible from as far away as Thorncombe.

Hawkchurch parish councillor Ruth Churchill said: "This proposal came to our attention in September but it didn't go out to pre-application public consultation with the community. As a result, we have been frantically trying to raise awareness of the proposal for a plant that is entirely inappropriately sited and that the majority of the village are strongly opposed to."

The plant would be a short-term operating reserve power station, or STOR. Its aim is to provide electricity at peak times, limited to 17 per cent of the year or 1,500 hours.

Applicant STOR Power Ltd. is a sister company of NRG Solutions Ltd. and said in its application that renewable energy sources can be "unpredictable", which is why there was a growing need for power plants that can respond quickly to local demand.

The application added: "Reciprocating gas engine technology is a clean-burning, efficient and responsive technology."

However, local residents have raised concerns about the visibility of the industrial building and the potential impact on their health.

Councillor Churchill and several Hawkchurch residents attended the Frack Free Lyme Regis and Turn Lyme Green screening of "The Power of Community", a documentary about sustainable energy, in Lyme Regis last week and their plight was discussed during a question and answer sessions. An emergency meeting to discuss the issue further was also held in Lyme Regis on Sunday morning.

Campaigners also met in Hawkchurch on Tuesday morning with protest placards.

Sustainable living author and co-founder of Frack Free Lyme Regis, Tracey West, said: "There are several concerns being raised by Hawkchurch residents, including issues around visibility and health. The meteorology of the area is entirely unsuited to this sort of industrial development.

"The valley it sits in, is well known for fog which is caused by temperature inversions. These commonly occur in coastal areas due to the upwelling of cold water, which decreases the surface air temperature and then the cold air mass remains underneath the warm mass.

"During an inversion episode, the warm inversion layer acts as a cap preventing atmospheric mixing and as a result, fumes and pollution are trapped low down and could easily cause respiratory problems."

West Dorset MP Oliver Letwin has also opposed the application.

He said: "This development will have an impact on the West Dorset AONB. I do not believe it is appropriate, or in line with national planning policy, for industrial installations to be located in ways that have such impact on landscape of national importance.

"I hope, therefore, that this application will be refused."

Mrs West added: "Residents have also been discussing the fact that the applicant is unable to confirm the technology they want to use, so therefore cannot give accurate outputs of noise and emissions and despite only being aware of the situation for a short time, they have amassed over a dozen pages of valid objections, however, there has been very little time to communicate with the village and coordinate a swift plan of action."

East Devon District Council has received well over 100 objections to the proposal. Concerns include that it would be a "very large, unsightly industrial facility on a greenfield site" and would be "totally inappropriate for this area".

Mrs West continued: "Recent scientific reports have stated that the fossil fuel industry's emissions of greenhouse gasses are around 60 per cent greater than were previously estimated. Also, in September 2016 - commonly a period when atcarbon mospheric dioxide is at its minimum the monthly count failed to drop below 400 parts per million making 2016 the year where scientists say it will never drop below that marker again. Building another gas fired power station is the last thing we should be doing!

"It will have a detrimental impact with other developments in the locality (solar farms and the electricity sub-station), and will create an industrialised landscape."

Mrs West said she believed the plans conflicted with several of East Devon District Council's planning policies, as it would "neither conserve, nor enhance the environment", was "neither renewable nor low-carbon", "does not respect the key characteristics and special qualities of the area" and was "not environmentally sustainable".

Simon West, an environmentalist from Lyme Regis, added: "The 20 megawatt capacity of this plant represents less than one per cent of the generating capacity currently in the South West. All in all, that's a trivial amount for the considerable damage that it

The deadline for the public to submit comments to East Devon District Council on this application is today, but Axminster town councillor Ian Hall has promised to renew attempts to extend the consultation period.

Networking group for those interested in property market to launch in Lyme

monthly networking group in Lyme

The Devon and Dorset Investment Group (DDIG) has been set up by local property developers Isabel Knight and Steve Colley of Esprit Property with the aim of creating an environment for meeting, educating, connecting and collaborating with other local people interested in or already involved in property investment and property development.

Isabel, who lives in Seaton, and Steve, from Plymouth, have recently moved back to Devon after 15 years living in France, building and renovating apartments and chalets in the Alps around Chamonix.

The idea for DDIG came about from their desire to meet and collaborate with other local people investing in property in the area, and the recognition that there are few other property networking groups in East Devon and West Dorset.

The monthly DDIG meetings will provide a great networking environment and the chance for those attending to learn about property investment and property development, exchange ideas and meet and connect with local experts able to help them fulfil their property aspira-

Lyme Regis architectural consultant Jim Larcombe will co-host the meetings, and Lyme Regis Football Club has kindly donated their venue for the DDIG meetings will be open to everyone, no matter how much experience or property they have, as long as participants are serious about becoming even more successful and willing to be inspired to take action.

The meetings will take place every third Tuesday of the month and each month there will be specific topics relevant to property investors, including updates on the local property market and guest speakers who will share their expertise in the market. Rest assured there will be no one selling property at the meetings but there will be a chance to meet others and share opportunities in the local area.

The property seminar will begin at 7pm, but drinks and networking will begin at 6pm. If networking is new to you then don't worry, DDIG will make it easy and fun so that you can enjoy the positive effect of being with like-minded people and also benefit from the practical aspect of tapping into advice, expertise and contacts that you wouldn't otherwise be able to get hold of.

Investment The first meeting will be held at Lyme Regis Football Club on Charmouth Road Tuesday, October 18th from 6pm to 9pm.

A spokesperson said: "Add to your existing property investing knowlsonal contacts in the property world." The meeting is free to attend and there will be tea and coffee available

Bowling club raises funds for Sepsis Trust

LYME Regis Bowling Club raises £1,230 for the UK Sepsis Trust during its annual tournament.

The total was raised with the help of clubs from Winchester, Bristol, Bath and Bridgewater.

Various events were held during the week but the biggest fundraiser was a race night organised by the Winchester Club, which also included a talk by Emma Young on sepsis and raised a total of £500.

The bowling club's funds were added to money raised by the Yeovil Somerset Stars Cycle Sepsis Team, made up of 16 members of Yeovil Hospital who cycled from Yeovil to Cardiff, staying over night in Bristol to raise funds for the charity.

Don't miss spooky seaside fun at Lyme Slime Halloween Festival

A NEW, spooky Halloween event for all the family is coming to Lyme Regis on Saturday, October 29th, at 11am.

The Lyme Slime Halloween Festival with a 2k fancy dress fun run will take place on Lyme Regis seafront with fun "fright spots" along the way.

Participants of all ages and abilities are welcome to run, jog or walk the course on their own, or with family and friends.

Halloween themed fancy dress and organisers are hoping the run will create quite the spectacle and are aiming for 250 witches, ghosts, cats and vampires all having a frightfully good time.

For that extra Halloween scare there will be some fun "fright spots" | around the course to keep participants on their toes. Look out for the trick or treat station, indulge in some witch's brew, if you dare and boogie with the dancing devil, pumpkin or vampire, and don't forget to join in the spooky mass warm up.

Although no times or positions will be recorded for this event, participants wishing to use this course to test their running speed will be able to bypass the games and run fast to record their own finish time.

Event director Sally Raynes, from organisers Wacky Nation, said: "We're excited to be bringing the Halloween Lyme Slime Festival to Lyme Regis for its inaugural year. We wanted to create a new community event for people from Lyme Regis and the surrounding areas to get into the spirit and celebrate Halloween with family and friends.

"It's a great opportunity for families to experience running together, playing traditional Halloween games and having a fun experience without any scary nightmares."

Runners and spectators are invited to also visit the Halloween Entertainment Zone with lots of spooky children's games and competitions in the Jubilee Pavilion on Marine Parade between 11am and 2pm to fundraise for Lyme Regis Christmas Lights and the Hub Toddlers.

Have a go at classic Halloween games such as apple bobbing, doughnut on a string, hocus pocus, pumpkin bowling, guess the number of spooky sweets in the iar, plus lots more.

spooky sweets in the jar, plus lots more. "It's great everyone is joining in to ensure that this event is a great success, but we can always take on more volunteers to run games or to dress up and be one of our scary stewards," added Sally

"At 12noon prizes will be given out for the best Halloween costumes, so don't forget to dig out your spookiest outfit and come dressed as a ghost, cat, witch, werewolf, skeleton, pumpkin or anything with a Halloween theme."

The Hub Toddlers will also be offering pumpkin, bat or spider-theme face painting for a small fee to finish off your Halloween look.

Participants need to register in advance at www.wackynation.com/lymeslime for a place in the Halloween event, and further information can also be found on the website.

Places are going quickly. The cost to register is £5 for children and £5 for adults, plus for a limited time adults go free when entering two or more children.

All entrants signing up before race day will receive their own race number, race day treats, a medal, plus refreshments. There will be an extra £2 charge to enter on the day if there are any spaces available.

If successful it is hoped that the Lyme Slime will expand to host other Halloween themed events over a whole weekend next year to raise money for local charities and organisations.

LYME Regis Museum is offering another chance to view its popular "Farming in the Lim Valley" exhibition.

The exhibition, first shown in Lyme Regis, Uplyme and Axminster in 2008, will be held again at the Woodmead Halls over the weekend of Saturday, October 22nd and Sunday 23rd.

Doors will be open from 10am to 4pm both days, admission is free but donations for the museum would be welcome.

Dorset House named best bed and breakfast in the South West

A BOUTIQUE bed and breakfast in Lyme Regis has been named the best in the South West.

Owners of Dorset House, Lyn and Jason Martin, picked up the Best South West B&B at the Taste of the West Awards, held at Exeter Cathedral last week.

Judges praised Dorset House for its beautifully cooked and presented breakfasts and friendly atmosphere.

"It's an incredible boost to be recognised in this way," said Lyn.

We've tried to make Dorset House the kind of place we would like to stay ourselves. Lovingly home-cooked breakfasts, stylish and comfortable rooms and a friendly, relaxed atmosphere are at the heart of what we do."

This has been a summer of success for Dorset House. It has also been named as a finalist in Dorset Tourism Awards Bed & Breakfast of the Year, with the winner to be announced later in the month; and has been listed by the Good Hotel Guide, the UK's top independent guide offering impartial advice on where to stay.

Dorset House is also currently listed as the number one Lyme Regis bed and breakfast on TripAdvisor, with more than 500 good reviews, most of them five-star.

Running a B&B was a complete lifestyle change for the Martins - Lyn previously worked for Jaguar LandRover in Oxfordshire and Jason was a tennis pro, although he still coaches and is involved in local clubs.

The couple fell in love with Lyme and moved to the town with their three children in 2013. It took them a year to renovate Dorset House, on Pound Street, before they reopened the doors in May 2014.

"We always had a strong vision of what we wanted to achieve," said Jason.

"It's about doing the simple things well. We cook with the best, locally produced ingredients, organic where possible. Guests love a traditional English cooked breakfast and we always offer that, but we also provide other specialities that change with the seasons.

"Going on holiday should be fun and we enjoy indulging our guests with treats like spelt pancakes and maple syrup."

The big, communal breakfast table is a feature of Dorset House.

"All the guests sit together at the big table," explained Lyn.

■ BEST IN THE WEST: Lyn and Jason Martin, owners of Dorset House B&B in Lyme Regis

"They get talking and have a great time. The informal breakfast is part of the spirit of the place."

Guests can also enjoy the sitting room with its comfy sofas and log burner, or help themselves to a drink at the bar.

Taste of the West judges commented on the well thoughtout décor when they visited this summer. They said: "Polished floorboards and fresh flowers made the whole property classy but comfortable and calm.

"A lot of thought and care had been put into the property. It was extremely comfortable with a good bed and good quality bedding."

"The visit was the first time some of the children had ever handled an animal on their laps before, it was really encouraging," said Karen Yelland, Beaver Leader.

"The staff at Pets at Home were great and the kids really enjoyed their visit and they got a badge out of it as well which is a major bonus.

"Scouting is about everyday adventure and it was wonderful to go over to Axminster to do something like this."

Ambulance service told it 'requires improvement' following inspection

NHS Foundation Trust (SWASFT) service has been told it "requires improvement" following an inspection in June.

The trust has been told it must make improvements to some of its services by England's chief inspector of hospitals.

Overall the service was rated as "requires improvement" by the Care Quality Commission (CQC) although its services were rated "outstanding" for caring and "good" for being responsive.

Professor Sir Mike Richards, chief inspector of hospitals, said: "As demand for emergency care grows year by year, our ambulance services have never been bus-

"I know that South Western Ambulance Service is at the forefront of national improvements in the ambulance service, exploring better ways to deal with emergency calls so that people get the attention they need, in the right place at the right time.

"The trust has a strong and stable leadership team, which has put quality and safety as key priorities and has organised the staff and resources well across a wide geographic area, responding well, on the most part, to the most urgent calls, and working closely with other NHS providers to maximise the effectiveness of the service.

"We found staff in the emergency operations centres and emergency and urgent services to be outstanding in the way they supported people who were distressed or overwhelmed in often highly stressful sit-

"However, we also found some variation in quality across the services we inspected. There were significant gaps in mandatory training and we found the levels of staffing were not always sufficient to provide relief when staff were training, or on leave.

"I am concerned that not all staff were reporting incidents, particularly when they were verbally abused by callers.

"Some felt they did not have time to report all incidents, so losing the chance to learn from them and take appropriate action in future.

Check on progress

"During the inspection we identified a number of areas for improvement which we have passed on to the trust and to local commissioners. Our inspectors will return at a later date to check on their progress."

The service was rated "requires improvement" for emergency and urgent care and patient transport services, for which they were rated as "inadequate" for well led; "good" for out of hours, emergency operations centre and "outstanding" for re-

Ken Wenman, chief executive of SWASFT, said: "The 'outstanding' care rating for staff based in our clinical hubs handling 999 calls and our ambulance crews and first responders out on the roads across the South West is well deserved and recognises the amazing patient care delivered every day, around the clock.

"Clinical hub staff are often the first point of contact with the ambulance service and their 'outstanding compassion, kindness and respect towards caller and patients, often under a high level of pressure' has rightly been recognised by the CQC.

"Their dedication, professionalism and 'grace' when working under 'extreme pressure', together with the 'numerous examples' of ambulance crews going the extra mile for patient comfort, along with their passion for patient care and wellbeing, is something I am extremely proud of.

"The overall rating of 'outstanding' for resilience planning reflects the robust systems in place to deliver high quality support for major incidents, large public events and special operations.

"This function also encompasses our hazardous area response teams (HART) and air ambulance provision throughout our diverse region, and the dedicated and committed staff working within it.

"No other ambulance trust has received an 'outstanding' rating for resilience, so it is an achievement we are extremely pleased with.

"We make every effort to encourage feedback from patients and I am assured that the CQC inspection team, without exception, received only positive comments from patients, something I am told is almost unheard of.

"Where there are specific lessons to learn from the report we will of course take the necessary actions to make positive changes and improvements."

Police report on spate of kayak thefts from harbour

KAYAK owners are being reminded to secure their craft after a spate of thefts from Lyme Regis harbour.

The police have received five reports of kayaks being stolen from the harbour since the start of

The kayaks have been stolen from the racks next to the harbourmaster's office at the Cobb, in the boat park and at the sailing club, with two taken on the night of September 10th, one between September 27th and October 6th, and two sometime between September 29th and October 8th.

The latest to be stolen include a red and orange RTM Mambo Kayak taken from the sailing club rack, and a marbled orange and yellow single-person kayak from a rack on Marine Parade. This was secured with a combination lock but the bolt was cut.

It was also reported on social media on September 29th that a handmade tender boat was stolen from the tender rack on the slipway, although this was not included in the police report.

The sudden spate in thefts has led some to criticise security measures at the harbour.

Harbourmaster Grahame Forshaw said that he believed the kayaks were "probably stolen to order", as most of them were new, and has reminded owners that they are responsible for securing their own

He said: "We do ask people to make sure their kayaks are secure. They are responsible for providing good quality locks and chains.

"We do have limited CCTV coverage on the racks. This is not ideal and we are going to improve our system when our office gets rebuilt.

"When people ask for storage, we ask them to take their kayaks away out of season when it is darker and there are less people around. We do our best to question people when they take kayaks but people come and go all the time.

"It's unfortunate. They were probably stolen to order as most of them were quite new. It's a shame and I'm very sorry for the people who have heen affected"

Ashley Cooper Turf & Transport

AN exciting new product for us at Ashley Cooper Turf & Transport – Meadow Mats!

Since WW2, 98% of the UKs wildflower meadows have been lost; which is such a shame, as these species-rich areas were also a source of food and shelter for countless insects; butterflies and bees to name two, as well as birds and others that contribute to the food chain. All is not lost though; if every gardener in the UK were to turn 10% of their garden into a wild flower area, we could reinstate 10,000 acres of butterfly habitat!

Hence our new product MeadowMats: - Pregrown mats to give you instant ground cover. Meadow mats establish fast and will flower in their first season (some not until their second season). Mixed perennial and biennial plants that will keep flowering year after year. Low maintenance. With plant species that are hardy throughout the UK.

Types of Meadow Mat available:

Traditional MeadowMat – an old fashioned hay meadow mix of grasses and flowers.

MeadowMat for Birds and Bees - 20% grass, 80% flower mixture, a plant selection especially rich in nectar for summer insects.

TULIP TIPS

by Hannah Stephenson, Press Association

OF all the bulbs, tulips are probably the most varied in size and colour, ranging from dainty dwarf specimens to frilly, feathery forms and stand-up-straight majestic types.

They don't need planting as early as narcissi or snowdrops. In fact, tulips shouldn't be planted before the end of October, as early planting will result in soft growth which is susceptible to the fungal disease,

If you're growing them in pots, generally they are best grown alone because they don't survive a typical summer without being lifted and dried off after flowering.

If you want a stand-alone colour and type of bulb, consider sowing grass seed on the surface soil once you've planted the bulbs, which will create a swathe of green as the bulbs emerge, avoiding visible empty pock-

However, you can achieve some gorgeous combinations which could also help hide the unsightly appearance of the bulbs once they have finished flowering and are starting to look straggly.

Variegated dwarf ribbon grass, for example, is an excellent pairing with the deep burgundy Tulipa 'Queen of Night'. The grass makes a terrific foil for the almost-black tulip flowers and will last long after the blooms have gone.

CARDENS making your garden glorious

If you are planting a single layer of bulbs, fill the pot to within four or five times the depth of the bulb from the top of the pot. You can plant the bulbs closer together in a pot than you would in the ground, leaving them around 1cm apart if they are small tulips, but a bit more space for varieties with larger blooms. Then fill the rest of the pot with compost, up to around 3cm from the top of the rim. Also, be aware that tall bulbs in shallow containers don't generally succeed.

When planting, the most important thing is that the soil is well drained. Add a handful of grit to multi-purpose compost at planting time and place crocs, small stones or broken pieces of polystyrene plant trays in the base and ensure you have drainage holes in the container.

Stand the pot on feet to stop autumn and winter moisture seeping in upwards from the ground and rotting the bulbs.

In severe winter weather, move the pots closer to the house so they escape the worst of the excess wet and chilling wind. But once the days become slightly warmer in early spring, move them out into the open and don't let the pots dry out or you'll be left with stunted foliage and poor flowers.

Once the bulbs are in full leaf growth, the pots should be watered periodically, when the compost feels dry.

So, which tulips do best in pots? Well, in deep pots you might go for tall varieties such as triumph whose stems grow up to 40cm, flowering in late spring. These include T. 'Prinses Irene', which has glowing orange blooms flamed with purple, and 'Bing Crosby', a scarlet variety.

Shorter single early tulips such as 'Apricot Beauty' also work well in pots, as do taller single late and Darwin tulips including 'World's Favourite', a hot orange-red type, or the lily-flowered T. 'Ballerina', with its vibrant orange flowers which open fully on sunny days.

In fact, most tulips are perfect for pots just avoid those with weak stems and very heavy flowers which are prone to flopping.

Many bulbs grown in pots can be left in the compost if they are kept completely dry during the dormant period in summer. A frost-free greenhouse or cold frame is ideal and many gardeners lay the pots on their sides

Tulips must have a dry rest after flowering, so if you plant summer bedding on top of them which you are intending to regularly water all summer, don't leave the bulbs in the container or they will just rot. You'll need to lift and dry them after they die down and store them safely until late autumn.

WHAT TO DO THIS WEEK

by Hannah Stephenson, Press Association

- Place dustbins full of water under greenhouse staging. They warm up during the day, releasing their heat at night and act as storage heaters.
- Plant out hardy primulas raised from seed or divisions.
- Harvest cobnuts, hazelnuts and filberts when husks begin to yellow, but before they start dropping.
- Continue to pick fast maturing vegetables, such as French beans, runner beans, courgettes, cucumbers, peppers and tomatoes, to prevent them becoming stringy, tough or bitter.
- Where grass growth is thin and sparse, overseed now with a suitable grass seed mixture.
- Lift onions and shallots once the foliage has started to die back.
- Take cuttings of rosemary, lavender, bay and hyssop.
- Take hardwood cuttings from gooseberry bushes to increase stock.
- Sow sweet peas in a cold frame or the greenhouse for early summer blooms next year.
- Plant new perennials while the soil is still warm, but moisture levels are increasing.
- Wait for the first frosts to hit dahlias and cannas before lifting the tubers or rhizomes.
- Buy spring-flowering bedding plants, such as bellis, primula, wallflowers and violas.
- Prune out any dead, dying or diseased shoots on fruit trees that are affected by diseases such as bacterial canker, cherry leaf scorch, powdery mildew or other problems that can overwinter.

IT'S TIME FOR PARSNIPS

by Hannah Stephenson, Press Association

THEY are among my favourite root vegetables, whether in soups and casseroles, or dipped in finely grated Parmesan or even maple syrup and roasted, as a Sunday lunch accompaniment.

Pick a spot in sun or light shade and prepare the soil in autumn, removing stones. A deep, light soil is best for root formation. Rake in a general purpose fertiliser when preparing the seed bed.

Seeds should be sown thinly in spring. Be patient, because they are slow to germinate - it can take up to five weeks. To help you remember where they are when you are weeding, sow a quick-growing crop such as radishes among them.

Parsnips don the need much looking after. Keep weeding and water if there is a prolonged dry spell. The roots should be ready for lifting when the leaves begin to die down in autumn. They can be left in the ground whatever the weather, so just lift them as you need them.

Good varieties include 'Tender and True' and 'Gladiator', said to be resistant to canker, with smooth, tapered roots and ideal for small gardens.

A MOVING EXPERIENCE

by Hannah Stephenson, Press Association

ARE your borders looking overgrown and overcrowded? If some of your stalwart shrubs and perennials have outgrown their space or simply aren't thriving in their current position, it may be time to move them. The best time to transplant shrubs is while they are dormant, between late autumn and early spring. Choose a day when the ground isn't frozen or waterlogged.

There's always a risk when you move plants and the larger the plant, the more risk there is that you'll lose it. But there are ways to minimise that risk.

Small herbaceous perennials and compact shrubs are relatively easy to move if you water them thoroughly and then dig them up with as much root as possible, repositioning them somewhere where there's more room or where conditions are more favourable. Water them in well and keep them well watered during the autumn in the absence of rainfall.

Mature shrubs are harder work to move, but it's best to do it after a bout of rain.

Generally those that move most easily are the ones with fibrous roots - masses of thin roots which remain shallow in the soil. More problematic to move are those with tap roots, which are much thicker and there are fewer of them. It's difficult to move these without breaking the roots.

First, decide where you are going to replant any large shrubs. Dig a hole slightly bigger than the root ball of soil is going to be and add organic matter to the soil as well as slow-release fertiliser.

www.viewnews.co.uk

For trauma-free transplanting of large shrubs, first make a wide circle at least 30cm from the shrub with a spade and dig a deep trench following the circle's curve. Use a garden fork to loosen the earth around the ball of the roots, then gently fork the surplus earth from around the roots.

If the stems or branches of the shrub are unwieldy, tie them loosely with garden string so they don't snap off or get damaged during the excavation.

Once the ball of roots has been loosened, dig your spade under the root ball as far as you can, levering gently as you go around the circle. The aim is to keep as large a root ball attached to the plant as possible.

When you feel the shrub move, tilt it to one side and slide a length of plastic sheeting or sacking underneath the root ball. Tilt the shrub the other way and manoeuvre the sacking so that it comes underneath the whole root ball, then wrap it up and tie it around the trunk securely, to minimise water loss and keep the root ball and soil intact.

Unwrap the sacking and carefully place the shrub in its original depth. Fill the hole with displaced soil, firm in gently with the ball of your foot to get rid of any air pockets and give it a good soaking. Water regularly until the plant becomes established and mulch with organic matter. Large shrubs may need support for a year or two.

Safe, Secure & very, very strong....

Literary dinner raises more than £1,000 for museum

TRACY Chevalier, author of "Girl with a Pearl Earring" and "Remarkable Creatures", was the guest of honour at an ArtsFest Literary Dinner, hosted by the Friends of Lyme Regis Museum at the golf club.

More than £1,000 was raised at the literary dinner towards the museum's Mary Anning Wing extension, which is currently under construction.

Guests were enthralled to hear the real life story of Tracy's own journey, from writing a novel about a 17th century Dutch painting to a passion for fossil hunting on Dorset beaches in all kinds of wild and windy weather.

This particular passion resulted in her novel, "Remarkable Creatures", published in 2009 with Mary Anning as one of the two central characters.

Tracy is a patron of the Museum Friends and, as a souvenir of the occasion, was presented with a fossil by museum geologist Paddy Howe, with whom she worked closely on the research for her book we watched a few games of boules, or petanque as the French call it. The idea is to get a larger steel ball as close as possible to a smaller wooden one, called a Jack, or cochonet - touching if possible.

We watched several games and in only one did a steel ball touch the Jack. This reminded me of a Bible text, "All have... fallen short of the glory of God".

When I was at school, any disobedience to the teachers merited the cane. I was told once to do something and forgot (by forgetting I "fell short") so I was caned!

We try our best and most of us think we are pretty good. fib? Or ever been dishonest? Fiddled our tax return? The list could go on. If we have, then we have fallen short of God's absolute perfection, and I reckon many of us don't get high marks for our "good lives"

Jesus was the perfect one who stood in our place (when I was at school I had no one to take the cane in my place) and He invites us to put our trust in Him to avoid suffering the consequences of "falling short", or "missing the mark as we might say in archery This Saturday at Uplyme Parish Church, from 9am to

Watercolour techniques shared with Lyme Regis Art Society

THIS week's guest artist for Lyme Regis Art Society's meeting was Dee Cowell, who gave a demonstration entitled "Expressive Watercolour"and impressed members with the televised recording which made it easy to appreciate her different tech-

Demonstrating a variety of products from Derwent, Dee entertained with personal stories about her childhood and family in Zambia whilst working on heavy Derwent Watercolour paper (140lb) with their watercolour and Inktense pencils.

She often uses watercolour directly onto canvas as the pigment is the same in all media, just requiring other substances to turn it into pastel or acrylic paint. She showed members brass-rubbing effects produced with an embossing tool under paint and how AquaWax mixed with water gives a resist finish.

For her big picture, Dee traced an image of three zebras using Tracedown paper, having previously obtained permission from the photographer, and, after covering the white areas with Aquawax, splashed on cool reds and blues, allowing colours to mingle. When the paint dried, she added pencil darks and lifted highlights with white ink or acrylic, darkening corners to lead the eye to the important areas in the middle.

After tea, she began a painting of two boxing hares. She showed members a pencil sharpener produced by Derwent, creating a long sharp point to draw in the basic outline, before using a tiny mesh grater called a sprinkler (also from Derwent Accessories) to grate three primary colours onto the

A fine mist of water immediately created pools of colour which she blended into soft browns with a long blade like brush, called a sword brush, producing strokes reminiscent of Chinese calligraphy. She washed in a faded blue background and then created a grassy effect in the foreground using a comb brush and her fingers.

This loose style and unblended patches of colour created the effect of sunlit movement - an amazing result after only 30 minutes work.

Dee will be running a workshop for the society at Lyme Regis Football Club on October 24th, 10am to

The society meets on alternate Tuesdays in the Woodmead Halls from 2pm to 4pm. The next meeting is on Tuesday, October 18th when Laurence Belbin will demonstrate oil painting followed by a workshop on Monday, October 24th.

Visitors and new members always welcome. For further details, contact secretary Sheila Stratton on 01297 445464

AS part of the series of late summer concerts at St Michael's Parish Church, organised by the Lyme Regis Organ School, 15 aspiring young organists gave a combined recital last week playing the church's impressive Skrabl organ.

There was an excellent audience, including the parents, families and friends of the young players.

Each student was at a different stage in their organ studies, ranging from beginners to advanced Grade 8 and beyond. There was also a wide age range, from eight to 17.

Many of the young organists are being trained under a scheme called "PipeUp" set up by the Diocese of Salisbury eight years ago, and at present co-ordinated by Dr Richard Godfrey, musical advisor to Lyme Regis Organ School.

Dr Godfrey said: "The concert lasted an hour, and it was quite a feat to make sure that all 15 players followed on smoothly without undue delay while the organ stool height was adjusted, the right stops were pulled out, and the players put on their special organ-playing shoes. "During each change-over another PipeUp tutor, Peter Parshall, provided interesting facts about the music to be played.

"The programme progressed from the youngest to the oldest player and followed the gradual increasing demands of the grade exams of the Associated Board.

"The first and last players were brothers. Orlando Henshaw, aged eight, played a decorated Lutheran chorale by Lübeck, whilst his brother Alexander, aged 17, played a flamboyant piece of Messiaen (Joie et Clarté) to round off the concert with specular virtuosity.

"In between we heard fine musical playing of a very wide range of attractive pieces, showing off the organ's many colours.'

The PipeUp scheme is supported and encouraged by the Archdeacon of Sherborne, Paul Taylor, who is himself an organist and aware of the very few organists available in many places to play for services.

Several of the young people who played on Sunday are now proficient enough to play regularly for church services.

Dr Godfrey added: "Lyme Regis is indeed fortunate to be able to offer the opportunity to learn to play, using the magnificent instrument in the Parish Church."

Jazz Jurassica this week

JAZZ Jurassica, Lyme Regis's first pop up supper club, takes to the stage for its very first season on Saturday, October 15th with the Zoe Schwarz Jazz & Blues Quartet.

Zoe Schwarz lives locally with her musical partner, guitarist Rob Koral, but has achieved national recognition as both an accomplished jazz singer and with Blue Commotion, her award-wining blues band. With only a handful of tickets left for Saturday's event, organisers have high hopes of attracting audiences for events in November and December looking for a good-time Saturday night out.

Julie Sheppard, its organiser says, "I'm hoping it will pull in people who wouldn't necessarily identify themselves as jazz fans but might be tempted by the wide range of music on offer. If you can't get to our first event this month, we've got the Tom Seals Band, a cross between Jamie Cullum and Jools Holland for a great night of boogie-woogie, blues and jazz in November. And at just under £20 for an evening's music with a two course supper included, it's one of the best deals in town".

Customers will need to book a table in advance because of limited capacity. Tickets from www.lymeregisjazzfestival.co.uk/jazz-jurassica/ or through Lyme Regis Tourist Information Centre on 01297 442138.

mandolin, fiddle and trumpet, Police Dog Hogan draw their influences from many different wells. You could call their music Americana, country-folk or even urban bluegrass, but it's difficult to do justice to the sheer range of styles this band can bend to its will.

Their most recent CD, the uniformly well-received 'Westward Ho!', was praised for its "wit, passion, eccentricity and unrelenting excellence". Their live shows are no less passionate or unrelenting. "At Maverick they huffed and puffed and blew the house down, leaving a trail of destruction in their wake,"said Louise Rogers of Americana UK.

Joanna's Wound Up for new EP release

RISING MUSIC artist Joanna Cooke - born and raised in Lyme Regis - releases her second four track EP 'Wound Up' on Tuesday, October 18th.

The lead track for radio airplay is 'More Than I Am', the EP's opener.

Wound Up follows Joanna's well-received 2015 EP Remember Me and "Last June" the earlier single she released with long standing musical collaborator Nathan Austin.

Joanna says: "I want to avoid my music being too similar and think it's good to have some variety in my material at this stage"

"There's something of a different approach to the group of songs on Wound Up. Some of them have a harder edge and darker feel, with a fuller production than on my last record.

"Overall, the EP reflects where I am now in my music making and I hope people will enjoy listening to these new tracks."

Production on Wound Up comes again from Matthew Arundell, with Nathan Austin also involved musically on the record.

As well as this new record release, 2016 is again proving to be a busy and successful time in other areas for Joanna Cooke. Once again she'll play more than 100 live shows in the year, including festivals, plus a range of radio slots.

August saw a stand out performance on BBCTV Spotlight's Summer Sessions. That was followed this month by an in-session radio appearance on BBC Introducing in Devon. Joanna's electronic dance music work continues to progress too. 'Slowing Down', the track by Brazilian DJ/Producer Vintage Culture, which includes her vocals, has now topped 1,300,000 YouTube views this

Medieval music, rocking Blockheads and tales from the 'Lie-In King'

WE ALL need a little lift as the nights start to draw in so the programme for late October at Dorchester Corn Exchange features plenty of lively music and comedy to brighten up those chilly eveninas.

Blast From The Past have built up a tremendous reputation with their historical music shows, which have delighted Dorchester audiences over the past few years. This time they are bringing a riotous medieval romp in the form of The Canterbury Tales on October 14 th. Six of Chaucer's bestloved tales are told using drama. verse, physical theatre and song to bring the colourful characters to riotous life. This is definitely not a dry academic take on English literature the show is fast, furious, occasionally filthy and invariably funny!

There will be more laughs when Seann Walsh, aka 'The Lie-in King', returns with his new show One For The Road on October 19th. Described by The Guardian as "unquestionably the best observational comic of his generation" you might have seen Seann on TV, but he's something else live pacing the stage, working the room and reducing crowds to hysterics.

Roger McGough has been a feature of the English poetry and music scene for 5 decades, since his early days with The Scaffold and the Liverpool poets. Along the way he has lost none of his hilarious, surreal wit and on October 23rd he joins unique poetry band LiT-TLe MACHiNe in closing the Dorchester Literary Festival with a celebration of 3000 years of poetry. The Blockheads (October 28th) remain one of the finest touring bands in the UK, combining superb musicianship and huge energy with an amazing catalogue of classic songs. The Blockheads vocalist is now the late Ian Dury's close friend Derek'The

Draw' Hussey, who is backed by original members Chaz Jankel, Norman Watt-Roy, John Turnbull and Mick Gallagher and a line-up of top session players. Support comes from Wevmouth-based favourites The Surfin' Birds.

Mark Steel is best known for his Radio 4 show Mark Steel's in Town, and on his last visit he turned the spotlight on Dorchester in a brilliant evening of comedy. He's back on 29 October with his new stand-up show, Who Do I Think I Am?, in which he turns the spotlight on himself for a change, and tells his story with his usual wit and aplomb.

Tickets for all shows are available online via dorchesterarts.org.uk, in person from the Corn Exchange Box Office or Dorchester TIC, or by phone on 01305 266926.

The two men have a begrudging respect for one another, usually expressed through a shared fag, a nip of whisky and some boisterous banter.

The Fossil Lady of Lyme

IMAGINE: the world is only 6000 years old, and everything was created in six days. This was the England into which Mary Anning was born – just two hundred years ago.

Then came the pioneering work of geologists, studying rocks and fossils. The accepted truths about the world were blown apart; it became clear that there had been a vast prehistoric age, with unimaginable monsters roaming the earth and swimming in the seas. Mary Anning played a key part in these extraordinary times. She discovered the first complete fossil of a prehistoric reptile in Great Britain - at the age of twelve. Throughout her life, she continued to make ground-breaking and spectacular discoveries.
In Alison Neil's highly entertaining play, Mary Anning tells her fascinating story, and that of "the fine clever men of science" who took most of the credit for her work. The tale of her life, her friendships, her struggle to make her mark (and put food on the table) is both amusing and moving.

As part of Earth Science Week, the Lyme Regis Fossil Festival team is promoting this fantastic, one women play by Alison Neil, see alisonneil.co.uk for further information.

The Fossil Lady of Lyme comes to The Hub, Church Street, Lyme Regis, DT7 3DB on Saturday, October 15th at 7.30pm, Tickets £10 for adults, Under 18's £7.50. Tickets available from Lyme Regis Tourist Information office

A Feast with Clout

Award-winning physical theatre company present their acclaimed Edinburgh Fringe show, an absurd inquest into food from the hunter gatherer to the Instagrammer

FRESH from their acclaimed run at Edinburgh Festival, Clout Theatre comes to the Lyric Theatre in Bridport to present two nights of Feast, on Friday 14th and Saturday, October 15th, as well as an exclusive workshop on the Saturday.

Feast is a show about food. From primitive struggle, through the baroque excess to technological perversion, how has our relationship with nourishment changed throughout history?

Not for the faint hearted, this striking wordless and grotesque show employs physical theatre, clowning and multimedia to delve into the evolution of humanity, exposing consumerism's excesses and extremes. With cascades of milk, raw steaks, live feed webcams and plenty of soil Feast is garnished with abundant anarchy and more than a hint of cannibalism.

Clout will be leading a fun and physical masterclass in 'developing a character' on Saturday 15 October from 10am to 1pm. There are limited places at £20 per person. For details please see www.the-lyric.com

Tickets for Feast are £12, available in advance from Bridport Arts Centre: 01308 424204 / online, and Bear-Kat Bistro, as well as on the door if available. Doors open 7:30pm for 8pm prompt start.

Cautionary Tales for Daughters

COMPOSER and mother, Tanya Holt, brings a new show to Bridport Arts Centre on Saturday, October 22nd. The show is a foray by song into the dark heart of growing-up and the dark arts of parenting.

A recent performance of Cautionary Tales for Daughters was described in The Times as "Hilaire Belloc does Caitlin Moran". Combining "gut-punchingly beautiful" lyricism with sharp humour, soul-shaking truths are teased out of subjects familiar to us all: the disorientation of growing up and the search for identity and acceptance Cautionary Tales for Daughdraws on Tanya's unconventional upbringing, her own experiences as a parent and real-life stories submitted by the public to cast a playful, sometimes painfully honest, light on the challenges, travails and triumphs of parenthood. As part of the performance the audience get to contribute their own words of caution and advice, which will be shared with the wider public on the show's website.

Tales of the hapless, feckless and foolish stand as warnings: Cherry the Amazing YoYo Girl, an obsessive dieter caught between gluttony and vanity; Chanel The Labelled Girl, whose criminal obsession with designer clothes leads to her grisly demise; and fickle Princess Sylvia who only realises she could have had anything and anyone when it's too late.

'It's Not OK' is a heart-rending compilation of true and sometimes disturbing real-life stories drawn from group discussions Tanya undertook with men and women in Lambeth, London, where she lives. Animated backdrops illuminate the pages of a storybook as the tales

LEAVES ARE FALLING AND SO ARE RATES

NOW is the perfect time to put your property on the lettings market with Greenslade Taylor Hunt's Dorchester office – autumn leaves are falling and so are the rates for fully managed properties.

This service is ideal for landlords new to the lettings market and those who want the peace of mind of knowing everything connected with letting out a property is being handled by experts.

Everything from finding suitable tenants to a full range of on-going management services to provide you with complete peace of mind throughout the tenancy period.

Keeping up with the necessary "red tape" surrounding a tenancy such as notifying utility companies and local authorities of user changes are all taken care of when you opt for a fully managed service.

Opting for a fully managed service means Greenslade Taylor Hunt can take the hassle out of organising repairs and on-going maintenance for the landlord.

Tarnia Wheeler, heads up the lettings team at the busy Dorchester office and has nearly 15 years' experience in the sector.

Reassuringly she is also ARLA qualified. ARLA – the Association of Residential Lettings Agents is the leading professional body for the industry. It believes letting agents should be licensed to practice, both to protect the consumer and to encourage and maintain high standards of service and knowledge.

Tarnia offers a range of letting options tailored to suit individual landlords' needs from a tenant find service to fully managed lettings.

However if you prefer to be more "hands on" then this can be catered for to, with a simple tenant find service.

Tarnia said: "The letting business is extremely buoyant. Now is a great time to become involved in the market. I can give you all the help and advice you need.

"We have a shortage of suitable properties for waiting tenants."

Every landlord and property is different. To discuss what would be best for your particular needs please call Tarnia on (01305) 268786 or drop into the office.

3-2-1... The countdown begins to tempting autumnal offers from SsangYong

AS THE nights draw in and the heating goes on, SsangYong is announcing three tempting offers to warm its customers this autumn.

The '3-2-1' offer provides three years free servicing, two years' additional roadside assistance and one year additional VED (vehicle excise duty), no matter which car you purchase in October. SsangYong models already come with the most comprehensive five-year limitless mileage warranty.

Additionally, on its Italian designed Korean built Korando crossover, you can now step up to a two-wheel drive Korando EX but for the same price as an SE at £16,250, or with 4x4 from just £17,750. This gives you 'free' heated front seats, rear privacy glass, auto dipping rear view mirror, automatic air conditioning, 7" touchscreen with rear view camera, rear parking sensors and 17" alloy wheels.

And on the rugged and highly capable Rexton 4x4, the SE & EX models now come equipped with free Mercedes-Benz automatic transmission and metallic paint from just £23,500.

"In addition to offering great value and extremely well equipped cars, we are always looking to go that extra mile to help reduce the cost of motoring for SsangYong owners," said Paul Williams, CEO of SsangYong Motor UK.

"SsangYong is a real valuebrand and we demonstrate that whenever possible. Korean built and comprehensively equipped, affordable prices and with a warranty no other margue can match, we are confident that with such highly tempting offers as these you will be seeing many more SsangYong cars on our roads this winter."

Nine-man Pymore through on penalties

County cup woe for Beaminster and Lyme Regis - deafeat double for Uplyme - Robins leak six

HOLT UTD 6 LYME REGIS 1 Dorset Senior Trophy R1

DESPITE, what appears on paper to be, a hefty defeat, Lyme Regis manager Robin Townsend felt his team performed reasonably well at Dorset Premier League leaders on Satuday.

"We had a superb opening half hour and were on top. But the old adage stands true – you must capitalise when you are in that position - we failed to take a couple of chances and it came back to haunt us."

Hosts Holt broke the deadlock in the 32nd minute and struck twice more in the following 10 minutes to leave Lyme in trouble at 3-0 down at half-time "We switched off completely,"

Kicking downhill in the second-half the Seasiders needed to strike back fast. But it was Holt who scored next leaving Lyme with a mountain to climb.

The pulled one back with a superb 25-yard strike from the left foot of Dan Baggs for his first goal for the club.

Lyme then threw caution to win wind in typical cup-tie style but they failed to add to their tally and Holt struck twice on the breakaway late on.

"Take nothing away from Holt – they are a good side with half a dozen players who were in Verwood Town's Wessex League side last season – but 6-1 doesn't give a fair reflection on the game," concluded Townsend.

DRIMPTON 1 LYME REGIS RESERVES 6

Dorset Intermediate Cup R1 LYME Reais Reserves marched through to the last 16 of the Dorset Intermediate Cup with a dominant display that could, and should, have yielded many, many more goals.

The Seasiders, fresh from a fine run of three back-to-back wins, went into the game full of confidence - a far cry from Drimpton who have had their first team squad torn to pieces by a mass defection of players in the Summer.

Tyrone Ruth, in his last match before returning to his home town of Accring-ton, Sam Bevis and Ryan Fifer all had early chances before the former opened the scoring in the 19th minute with a calm finish after Bevis had ridden two scything challenges and crossed well.

Bevis bagged the second seven min-utes later darting through the inside right channel before firing an angled shot across keeper Ash Obern and into the far corner from 15 yards.

Fifer went close to adding to his tally three times before Ruth scored from the penalty spot after Bevis had been ripped.

A good finish from Fifer made it 4-0 in the 35th minute and a cricket score looked on the cards with Obern working overtime in a MoM performance beween the sticks.

But Drimpton got some reward for their efforts before the interval when Lyme keeper Will Meech was deceived by George Tuck's back header.

The Seasiders created a host of further chances in the third quarter with Bevis having an effort ruled out for offside, and another kicked off the line while Obern did well with superb saves to deny both Ruth and Bevis.

With the game won Lyme manager Gerard Hitchcock took the opportunity to bring on 16-year-old striker Jonny Day who was soon in the thick of the action crossing for Ruth to complete his hat-trick in the 64th minute.

It was then Day's to further test Obern who once again did well with two fine

. But he was powerless to keep out the final goal in the 85th minute when Ruth found Day who rolled the ball into the bottom corner.

Lyme's reward is a last 16 tie at Dorset League Division Two side Maiden Newton & Cattistock on November 12th.

Beaminster 4 Broadmayne 5 (aet) Dorset Intermediate Cup R1

TEN-MAN Beaminster crashed out of the Dorset Intermediate cup having led twice in normal time.

The Rainbows took the lead through Roger Cummings only for the visitors, currently sitting in midtable in the Dorset League Division Two, to square things up from the penalty spot after Dan Pyett was adjudged, harshly in the opinion of home eyes, to have tripped an opposing striker.

Back came the hosts and Josh Baker jinked his way into area, riding a scything tackle on the way, to restore his side's lead.

The game took a turn for the worse for Beaminster 10 minutes before halftime when Pvett was dismissed having picked up a second yellow card for a foul on the half way line.
Broadmayne cashed in on their numerical superiority after the break with a double strike to get their noses in front for the first time at 3-2.

Chaos ensued soon after when the referee spotted a handball in the visitors penalty area and pointed to the spot before changing his mind and awarding Broadmayne a free-kick! Common sense prevailed and he reversed his decision again and Robin Jones tucked away the penalty.

The man in the middle was in the spotlight 10 minutes later when he overruled an offside flag from the Beaminster linesman as the visitors went 4-3 ahead.

But the goals kept flowing. Jones added his second to square things up again only for Broadmayne to snatch the winner right at the end of extra-Beaminster manager Gordy Childs was far from pleased, he told View Sport: "That was our worst display since I took over. Even with three or four big players cup-tied we should have had enough to beat them.

"But I'll drag the boys up and drill a winning mentality in to them."

PERRY STREET LEAGUE DAISY HUTCHINGS CUP – L16 Dowlish & Donyatt (D2) 3 PYMORE (D1) 3

THERE was an astonishing cup-tie on the Dowlish slope where Pymore played for 120 minutes with nine men and still had enough energy to win the eventual penalty shoot-out 5-4.

Two no-shows and a clutch of unavailabilities meant the Division One side were forced to start the game with just nine players. Undeterred, they led through a Tim Hussey strike at halftime. Amazingly this was then doubled by Dom Hackett after the interval.

The game then took a twist when

D&D keeper Sam Grinter injured a thumb and was forced to hand over the gloves to veteran Andy North. Grinter took over up front and promptly scored twice to force the extra half-hour!

Grinter then completed his hat-trick in the 95th minute to put the Division Two Dodgers ahead for the first time in the match.

But Pymore responded well with Liam Trott equalising seven minutes later.

Both sides put efforts wide in the shoot out and it was left to Robbie Walters to convert the sudden death winner and earn his side a place in the quarter finals.

DIVISION ONE UPLYME 1 SHEPTON BEAUCHAMP RES 2

UPLYME paid the penalty for missing a catalogue of chances as they slumped to a disappointing home defeat at the hands of Shepton Beauchamp Reserves on Saturday.

"We were camped in their half for the whole of the first half," said Uplyme joint-manager Jon Matthews.

James Walpole fired Shepton ahead early in the second period as the wasteful Uplyme frontline continued to squander opportunities.

It got worse for the Swallows when Brad Rowe was red carded by referee Dave Carter following an altercation with a Shepton player who was booked. The 10-man hosts finally found the net when Jake Beapark equalised only for Jack Lyons to pop up with the winner for the south Somerset side.

"I've never been so frustrated during a footy match - which is saying something after supporting spurs for 30 years!" concluded Matthews.

There was further bad news for Uplyme after the game with confirmation that defender Aaron Cleal had fractured his arm after falling awkwardly.

Division One round-up

A GAVIN Herrod hat-trick proved too much for visiting Combe A as Hawkchurch United continued their impressive start to the season.

James Melville netted the other two for the Hawks who led 3-0 and 5-1. Adam Tovey (2) and Stuart Glover scored for the Saints who grabbed two late consolations.

Forton Rangers are also going well. A fine strike from Jake Board and Chris Warry penalty saw Dave Ellis' side to a 2-1 win over Ilminster Colts whose goal came courtesy of a Craig Studley OG.

But once again it was the South Petherton Reserves' goalkeeper who was one of the busiest men of the weekend. After having just nine players last week Pethy rustled up 14 but the outcome was the same as they once again beaten 20-0.

Striker Nick Mortimer led the way with a triple hat-trick with Jack Steer (3), Sam Rowswell (3), Luke Gosney (2), Mark Tweedie (2) and Dan Rudge wading in with the others. "I felt for them (South Petherton) today, but they never gave up and tried to play a bit as well," said Rovers' boss Dan Childs.

Mortimer, a new signing, has Toolstation Western League experience with both Street and Glastonbury.

DIVISION TWO CREWKERNE RANGERS 6 CHARMOUTH 1

A DAN Rumsby goal was all Charmouth had to show from their trip to Henhayes where Crewkerne Rangers cruised to a 6-1 victory. The hosts eased into a 3-0 lead inside the opening half hour and never looked back.

Charmouth did at least have the consolation of a couple of new faces in their squad with Alfie Valler and Robbie Hayter pulling on a red shirt. Chris Tanner (3), Josh Lovatt, Simon-Denslow and Ali Gurek netted for the Rangers.

OTHER DIVISION TWO RESULTS Halstock 0 Chard Rangers 2 (S.Loader,

DIVISION THREE FIVEHEAD 6 UPLYME RESERVES 4

THERE was a classic game of two halves at Fivehead where the struggling hosts strong second-half showing ended Uplyme's unbeaten start to the season.

Starting well, Uplyme were rarely troubled and Frank Harris opened the scoring after five minutes. Further goals from Ryan Prendeville and two from Jonny Harris then sent the Swallows into half time firmly in control at 4-0 up.

But the second 45 was a completely different story: "We lost our ability to retain possession. In addition, they cranked up their physical approach of which the ref was very lenient of.
"They also changed their formation and picked us off, mainly through long balls and headers - though we probably gifted them at least three," said Uplyme boss Stuart Wooster who continued "We should have had one penalty at least and several challenges were questionable, but ultimately we imploded it was a nightmare turnaround."

Nick Bazeley (2), Paul Brion, Tom Callow, Adam Male and sub Liam Mason shared the Fivehead goals.

LYME ROVERS 2 MISTERTON RESERVES 3

LYME Regis Rovers manager Terry White felt his side were worth a point from Saturday's match at the Davey Fort with all five goals coming before the half time interval.

Misterton grabbed lead after just 50 seconds only for winger Ryan King to yard free kick that Missy keeper Liam Sparks should had dealt with better. The visiting keeper was as fault again

The home team looked a little nervous at the tip off and soon found themselves trailing to a confident Weymouth team, who secured a 15-12 first quarter lead.

Blues bounce back with big win

North Dorset 0 Bridport 78

BRIDPORT went away on Saturday with a full complement of players, despite losing two who were recovering from injuries picked up New Milton last week writes Guy Livingston..

Bridport attacked from the off with Daragh McLoughlin taking the ball quickly back into the North Dorset half to pass out to Ricky Stubbs who side stepped his way to the line for a try which was converted by Rory Greening.

From the restart, the Bridport scrum pushed the hosts off the ball to allow scrum half Dave Cutting to move the ball quickly to the backs to Stubbs who dotted down for another three points.

Following the restart, Bridport were soon back into the Dorset half and the ball was taken well in the air from a line-out by James Tuck, passed down to Mitch Waters who drove through to score from 15 meters, with Greening adding the conversion.

The Blues were now in control of the game, and from a turnover ball in the ruck Gareth Thomson was able to move the ball out to Stubbs for another darting run to put the ball down between the posts for another simple conversion by Greening

With North Dorset struggling to penetrate into the Blues half, they kicked the ball deep, only to find fullback Richard Pearce who ran the ball back into the hosts half and found Nathan Herbert who was able to put down under the posts allowing Greening to bag another easy two points.

With the half time whistle Bridport were well set leading

At the restart a good high kick from Stubbs allowed Cutting to collect and cross the whitewash for another three unconverted points.

On the restart Bridport maintained the pressure and it wasn't long before Stubbs was over the line again which Mitch Waters converted with Greening forced off with ahead in-

Then for the first time Bridport came under pressure following a penalty kick to the visitors five metre line.

But, despite five solid phases from North Dorset on the Bridport line they were unable to get points on the board after

Bridport dominated in the scrum and the ball was easily cleared downfield with Daragh McLoughlin coming away from the next breakdown to score under the posts, McLoughline converted for the

West Dorset Hawks 1 Devonport Services

DEVONPORT Services presented themselves as a very professional looking team with 15 players, arriving an hour early to practice some routines before the game.

On the other hand West Dorset, struggling through a lack of players, had to rely on two late additions to help them out, but both turned out to be influential.

Deciding goal

Ed Calvert scored the only goal of the game, whilst Andrew Frampton returning to the team for the first time since having a new hip played a fantastic game at left back and was voted man of the match.

Tom Lowe in goal kept a clean sheet, saving a couple of attempts from the visitors who also racked up fence, good keeping and a slightly weak corner routine meant Devonport fail to capitalise.

Captain Rick Steele said: "We did well in the circumstances, and we must thank Ed and Andrew for stepping up at the last minute to make vital contributions."

Team: Tom Lowe, Gavin Brooking, Ed Calvert, Andrew Frampton, Rick Steele, Alex Davies, Robin Goodfellow, Simon Wakley, Russell Coombes, Matt Stone, Dan Wyatt.

The club are currently struggling for players for their two teams, so if anyone is interested in playing, experienced or not (aged 16-60) they will be welcome to attend training sessions at The Sir John Colfox School on Tuesday evenings 7.30-9pm

A team continue perfect start

East Devon C 0 West Dorset A 4

THF Hawks A team continued their perfect start to the season with an impressive 4-0 win at East Devon C.

Goals from John Kellas (2), Henry Middleton and Jayson Perfect gave the Hawks a score line fitting of the all round team effort.

They were fortunate to field 11 players, with the last two only confirming their availability just hours before push back.

The first 15 minutes were scrappy with both teams failing to find any rhythm. The deadlock was broken when Connolly took a free hit just outside the scoring area and, found Middleton who unleashed an unstoppable shot into the bottom corner. Kellas then doubled the lead shortly before half time after fine work from the midfield workhorse Ollie Gargrave.

East Devon upped their game at the start of the second half and created a few chances. But further goals came from Perfect and Kellas, with a well executed flick from a short corner.

With a 4-0 lead, Wilson saw the perfect opportunity to take a two minute breather. A clumsy challenge saw him receive a green card from the umpire, but the remaining 10 players on the pitch kept things tight to ensure another clean sheet.

Team: Alex Drew (c), Henry Middleton, Krystian Dubas, Julian May, Giles Maltby, Rob Clarke, Ollie Gargrave, Lee Connolly, Jayson Perfect, Richard Wilson, John Kellas.

For the record, Bridport trailed by 22 shots at the tea interval before turning it round to win 127-120. Beryl Stork, Dave Aylott and Barbara & Keith Jenk ins took the top rink award winning 23-15, whilst Sandra Hargett, Derek Earwood, Phil Tattershall & Mike Parsons, were 5-17 down, before storming back to win 24-18. Brian Suffling, Caroline Earwood, Mel Hargett &

Mike Fletcher came from 5-12 down, to win 25-20 And there was victory also for Sylvia Fletcher, Gerry Moss. Erica Sarson & Barry Mapson who were trailing 12-18 with three ends left. But they turned the match on its head with a six count on the final end

Unfortunately Bernard Perry, Sharon Heath, Nova Varney & Brian Baker lost their last two ends to go down 18-23, whilst Peter Varney, Val Jones, who made a fine debut, Les Heath & Phil Hedges let an early lead slip to go down

Martinstown too strong

WEEK two of the West Dorset indoor Cricket League saw Martinstown take on Bere Regis in the under 16s Section at the Osprey Leisure Centre

Martinstown 149-1 beat Bere Regis 88 by 56 runs

MARTINSTOWN, batting first, produced a dominant display with the bat as openers Sean Williams (31 no) and Jack Kane (32no) pushed the score along at over 12 an over taking the score to 72 before both had to retire.

Not to be outdone M.Lappin (25no) and Jacob Coombes

(28) continued the assault against a plucky Bere attack whose cause weas not helped by fielding a man short.

Bere got some reward with Woodhouse claiming the wicket of Luc Ward for a duck as Martinstown innings closed on a challenging 149-1

In reply Bere were soon in trouble with Charlie Durrant (3-0-15-2) having B.Moss caught behind first ball.

The run chase became even harder when Ward, on debut, had L.White (8) caught athletically one handed off the sidewall by the diving Willaims.

Despite a hard hitting 51 from the impressive Woodhouse Bere were always behind the required the rate and an excellent all round performance from Martinstown finished with Durrant clean bowling Woodhouse with an un-playable in swinging yorker as Martinstown wrapped up victory with two overs to spare.

Young Bees suffer challenging experience

Bridport Res 2 Blanford Utd 2

Dorset Premier League

Bridport FC

BRIDPORT Reserves' manager Shaun Annetts was very critical of the referee following his side's 2-2 draw at home to Blandford United on Saturday.

Leading 2-1 at half-time, the young Bees were subjected to some very physical treatment in the second half as Blandford decided to change tactics to get even.

Whilst he did not feel that their opponents approach was necessarily responsible for his side not winning, in fact they had a wonderful opportunity to have scored a third which may well have closed the game out, he was highly critical of the referee for allowing a number of challenges to go unpunished.

In addition he felt the Royals' equaliser in added time should have been ruled out when keeper Billy Fleet was knocked into the net by a number of opponents follow-

The game had started so well for the Bees who boasted nine players under 20years of age, something Annetts was quick to confirm was mainly through ability and not unavailability.

They took the lead when Josh Hull glanced captain Luke King's free kick into the top corner, before they increased their lead on the half hour when Hull played a superb ball into the path of Josh Hunter who ran on to beat the keeper.

It was at this stage that the Royals changed tactics, and they became very physical in their approach which coincided with getting a goal back before the

Their chances had been limited to the odd occasion when they got round the back of the Bees defence, but they were thrown a lifeline when not for the first time this season, Bridport were caught in possession in their last third of the pitch.

This time it was Nathan Storey who lingered instead of clearing, and when he was robbed it gave Paul Ford the opportunity to run on and beat Fleet in the home

Whether it was a deliberate tactic to use strong arm tactics on the young Bees is unclear, but the second half became a war of attrition for the hosts as the referee failed to penalise the Royals for a number of heavy challenges, whilst his assistants failed, or were advised by the ref, to only flag for offsides and throw-ins.

As a result several Bridport players received injuries for which no free kick was Annetts recalled three of the worst occasions. "Josh Hull was running clear on goal when he was elbowed in the face in a clear act to impede and hurt him which warranted a straight red card.

"The ref may say he was unsighted, but I know the assistant saw it because he was stood next to me.

"Then Ashley Walkey was brought down with a tackle from behind that left six stud marks on the back of his leg. Before Hull was subjected to an aerial challenge from behind with such force it left him con-

"On top of that Billy Fleet was clattered by a number of their players when the last minute corner that resulted in the equaliser was delivered under the cross-

He was keen to point out however that he had not been looking for extra protection because of his young side, or that inhe was blaming the referee necessarily for the result, particularly as Henry Davey had a great chance to make it 3-1 early in the second half, but unfortunately skied it over the top from close

"We didn't play as well after the interval, but if their defender had been sent off for the foul on Josh Hull we might have had an advantage.

"My lads don't need extra protection, I'm iust asking the official to referee the game as it should be. I know as a former referee that they have bad games, and I think they should acknowledge that."

"Despite it being just about the worst refereeing display I have seen at Bridport, I thought my side gave a very disciplined performance in light of the treatment they

III discipline costs Bridport BRIDPORT A 2 CORFE CASTLE RESERVES 2

BRIDPORT As manager Mark Scadding was rueing his side's failure to convert the numerous chances his charges created against Corfe Mullen Reserves, as well as criticising some for lack of discipline and at times ignoring the team performance in favour of personal glory.

Twice Bridport A took the lead, only for the visitors to draw level from free kicks conceded through poor play.

He added: "Just like last week, wrong decisions, on and off the pitch, have cost us. Yes we still remain unbeaten, but unless they start taking their chances we shall end up in midtable.

We started much stronger and with much more desire than last week, but a lack of killer instinct in front of goal cost

The Bees did take the lead from a Ali Kamara strike. However a number of missed opportunities to put the game to bed were squandered, and Corfe grabbed an unexpected equaliser just before half time after the Bees conceded a another pointless foul, gifting the visitors a free kick that the home team defended poorly.

The second half saw the visitors start the stronger and push the Bees back for long periods, but the hosts rode the storm and re-established the lead after Brandon Scadding's perfectly floated ball saw Kamara connect perfectly to strike the ball past the keeper.

This should have been the kick-start Bridport required, but instead as one supporter aptly suggested, "discipline went out the window.

They were eventually punished by conceding another pointless free kick which the defence failed to deal with and Corfe grabbed a second equaliser to the glee of the travelling supporters.
